Southeast Asia Business Forum

“Unveiling Southeast Asia’s Potential: Policy Changes & Business Opportunities”

Synopsis

Covering a land area of 4.46 million¹ km, Southeast Asia hosts almost nine percent of the world’s population with a combined nominal Gross Domestic Product of more than US$2.3 trillion¹ while containing most of the fastest developing and emerging markets today. With rapid urbanisation, water and cities infrastructure are steadily becoming some of the key priorities of the country leaders. Coupled with environmental issues surrounding pollution and climate change, businesses and governments are scrambling to implement policy changes to support the growth of their respective cities. Asian Business Forum is the platform for both government officials and utilities leaders to share on policy changes and upcoming projects.
